THE "GAZETTE" DECEIVING ITS READERS.

Another syndicate editorial appeared in the evening paper but it failed to answer a single proposition presented by the JOURNAL. The syndicate is unable to comprehend that the interest of Washoe county in the Virginia & Truckee railroad tax suit does not exceed $800 and that to bring suit to collect this members of the syndicate are to receive $1,000.

Mr. Beck, in an article in Tuesday's JOURNAL, explained the interest which this county has in the V. & T. tax suit so clearly that the most stupid could not fail to understand it. The total tax of the V. & T. in Washoe county is in round numbers $5,000. The company tendered $3,800 so that the amount in dispute is something less than $1,600. Or this nearly one-half is for State tax, so that in the event of judgment being rendered for the county it would not pay the fee of special counsel.

Now as to the legality of the contract entered into between the County Commissioners and special counsel. The Act of February 19, 1887, defining the duties and powers of County Commissioners, provides that in letting all contracts of any and every kind, character and description whatever, where the contract in the aggregate amounts to five hundred dollars or more, the County Commissioners shall advertise such contract or contracts to be let, stating the nature and character thereof. The syndicate ignores this act and quotes in support of the action of the Commissioners the decisions of the Supreme Court in the cases of R. M. Clarke vs. Lyon county, and A. C. Ellis et al. vs. Washoe county. Both of these cases are reported in the Seventh Nevada and in neither was the question of advertising raised.

The syndicate must think the readers of the evening paper are as credulous and unsophisticated as its nominal editor and assume that if they can impose upon him they can deceive the readers of his paper. The Act of 1887 above quoted defining the duties and powers of County Commissioners is so plain that no person who can read the English language can fail to understand it.

IN THE INTEREST OF THE PEOPLE.

The Republicans have a majority in the House of Representatives that enables them, if so disposed, to pass any measure over the President's veto. In the Senate they have a plurality and when the Utah Senators are sworn in they will have half the members of that body.

In discussing the Bond bill (Mr. Reed's pet measure) in the Senate, Senator Butler of North Carolina offered an amendment prohibiting the sale of interest-bearing bonds by the Government. It would not do, he said, for either the Republicans or the Democrats of the Senate to evade the responsibility by saying that they had no majority. He was authorized to pledge six People's party votes in the Senate to either party that will stop the further issue of bonds, and six votes will give a majority to either side. In fact, said the Senator, either party can have a majority in the Senate when it desires to pass any law in the interest of the American people. He referred to the Benedict Arnolds of finance who were betraying their country into the hands of the gold speculators.

The condition of the country requires men like Butler in the United States Senate to unmask the old party hypocrites. He shows that while Republican papers in the west mildly denounce bond issues their party in Congress favor the issuance of interest-bearing bonds. He tells the old parties that either of them can have the votes of Senators Jones, Stewart, Kyle, Peffer, Allen and himself, to pass any bill that is for the benefit of the people, but neither of the old parties will present and support such a bill. Their leaders are the agents of the gold speculators and they combine and form a third party in Congress to prevent the passage of any measure that is not approved by the gold trust.

BLACKBURN ABANDONS THE FIGHT.

Senator Blackburn has abandoned all hope of being re-elected to the United States Senate from Kentucky. The Legislature is about equally divided and the death of Isaac Wilson, a member of the Legislature and a staunch supporter of Blackburn, gave the gold men the advantage. Senator Blackburn has been a firm, unflinching friend of silver in and out of the United States Senate. At the recent election he made his fight against the combined forces of the gold Republicans and Democrats on a silver platform. Cleveland and Carlisle opposed him, yet the Legislature was a tie between the Republicans and Blackburn men, two Populists holding the balance of power. The death of Mr. Wilson, whose last act was to vote for Senator Blackburn, gave the gold men an advantage, and as they claim the two Populist members will vote with them Blackburn's hope of being elected has vanished. His term will not expire until March 3, 1897, however, and he may have the satisfaction of seeing a President and a Congress elected before that time that will not be owned by the gold trust.

CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS.

Monroe Doctrine in the Senate—An Interesting Episode in the House.

WASHINGTON, January 16.—Senator Call gave notice to-day that he would soon move for the discharge of the Foreign Relations Committee from the consideration of the resolution for the recognition of the Cubans as belligerents, in order to have the Senate vote directly on the question without delay. Sewell introduced a resolution on the Monroe doctrine in the Senate to-day. The resolution declared that the President has pressed the doctrine beyond what was intended, and that his interpretation of it will involve us in foreign complications and virtually extend a protectorate over Mexico and the South American States.

Hale addressed the Senate to-day on his bill authorizing the Postmaster General to contract with the Pacific Cable Company for the transmission of Government messages between the United States and Hawaii. Hale stated that, in round numbers, the bill commits the United States to the subvention of about $250,000. It was a plain business enterprise, bringing Hawaii close to our doors.

There was an interesting episode in the House to-day, inspired by Grow, who declared that the New York Chamber of Commerce in a pamphlet widely circulated, cast reflections on the good faith of the House. The pamphlet criticized the House for not paying to Canadian sealers $400,000, which it was asserted had been arbitrated and awarded to the owners of seized vessels.

Crisp made the point that the pamphlet presented no question of privilege. Grow contended that since reflections upon the members of the House were a privilege, a reflection upon the whole House was much more privileged. The Board of Arbitration did not award a dollar of damages.

Grow declared: "If that had been done it would have been dishonest not to pay it and it is a reflection on the House to say that such an award was made and not paid."

The Speaker ruled that no question of privilege was presented, whereupon Grow took his seat saying, "well I am satisfied."

A bill was passed authorizing the leasing of lands in Arizona for educational purposes. The House resumed consideration of the Pension bill. An order was adopted that general debate be closed to-day and the bill be taken up by paragraphs to-morrow under the five minute rule.

THE ICE CARNIVAL.

The Rain Plays Havoc at Truckee—Excursions Postponed.

TRUCKEE, Cal., January 16.—It has rained furiously and continuously for twenty-four hours. The Carnival Company have telegraphed to the railroad officials to postpone all excursions for one week. The snow is soft and sloshy and the skating is temporarily ruined. The south wall of the ice palace is badly damaged, but one cold night will restore it to better condition than ever. The principal merit of the method of spraying the ice palace instead of building it with blocks of ice is that one or two cold nights permits the rebuilding of the entire structure.

The Blythe Estate.

SAN FRANCISCO, January 16.—The final distribution of the Blythe estate was before Probate Judge Coffey to-day. The fixing of the fees of the Public Administrators was considered. Attorney W. H. Hart for Florence Blythe Hinkley stated that he had agreed with the attorneys for the estates of the respective administrators to allow these officials $350 per month compensation during their respective terms of office.

On that basis the estate of Philip A. Roach was entitled to twenty-four thousand dollars, the estate of Judge Pennie to twenty thousand dollars and A. C. Freese, the present Administrator, to eight thousand dollars. Twenty thousand dollars had already been paid out to these three officials on account. The Court found that valuable records in the Blythe case had been allowed to remain in the store room and had been burned as rubbish by the janitor.

Fourteen Persons Poisoned.

GALLATIN, Tex., January 16.—Fourteen persons were poisoned yesterday at the farm of T. J. Merriman, near Dixon Springs. Merriman gave a dinner to his neighbors, who were helping him clear his land.

After dinner fourteen guests became violently ill with symptoms of arsenic poisoning. Three are in a critical condition. It is believed that some person intentionally poisoned the food.

Allison Renominated.

DES MOINES, Iowa, January 16.—The joint caucus of Republicans of the House and Senate was the only interesting event in the Legislature to-day. It was to nominate a candidate for United States Senator, and Wm. B. Allison, senior Senator, was nominated by acclamation to succeed himself. There was great enthusiasm and the house was packed.

A Hold-Up at Cripple Creek.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Colo., January 16.—P. W. Campbell of Los Angeles, Cal., was held up to-day by a Poverty Gulch by two men. They presented a revolver and he prevented the hammer from falling by grabbing it. His hand was terribly cut. He was beaten into submission, but the robbers fled without his money.

It is announced that President Harrison is to be married to Mrs. Dimmick after Lent. It will then depend upon the decision of the Senate whether he will be sworn in as President or not.

P. W. Campbell of Los Angeles was waylaid by two men named Bell and Morgan near Cripple Creek, Colorado, yesterday. Campbell was beaten until insensible, but the robbers fled without getting his money. Bell was arrested but Campbell could not identify him.

In the suit of the Southern Pacific Company against the California Railway Commission, counsel for defense introduced the testimony taken by the Congressional Committee nine years ago. The testimony of C. P. Huntington and the affidavits of E. H. Miller, formerly secretary of the company, were read.

The Appeal says U. S. Marshall Humphreys who attempted to levy on Henry's property in satisfaction of the $5,000 fine, is unable to get hold of the property, as it was transferred after Henry's conviction in the county jail. The Government will begin suit to set aside the transfer.

FIRE CHIEF A. H. RUNGE.

His Restored Health Was Due to Paine's Celery Compound.

The position of chief of fire department in a big city like Minneapolis, with its acres of valuable building property, crossed by numerous railroad lines and dotted with factories where the fires are never "baked," is one of the utmost responsibility, and can be entrusted only to a man of unquestioned character and ability.

August H. Runge, who has filled this responsible position for several years with so much credit to himself and to the city, was born in New York in 1852, where he received a common school education.

What such a man as this has to say can scarcely fail to carry weight with it.

"With the hope that what I say may in some way be brought to the attention of others who, like myself, have suffered without any apparent cause, I feel constrained to relate a brief tale regarding an experience which I trust may never be repeated in my case."

"A few months ago, owing doubtless to the exacting nature of my duties as head of the fire department, I began to feel a sort of languor and listlessness, to disprove which I was compelled to bring into play all the strength of will I could command. The feeling grew upon me, however, and in a short time it took such a possession of me that it affected my appetite and caused insomnia. I approached my meals with a feeling amounting almost to nausea, and my bed with horror at the restless night which I was almost certain was before me. Matters became so serious with me that I could no longer keep silent about myself, and speaking of it to one of my friends one day, he suggested that I try Paine's Celery Compound. I purchased a bottle and before I had taken a dozen doses I knew that the suggestion was a good one. I felt an improvement. I continued to use it, and felt restored. My appetite is good, and I sleep well, and instead of an irksome grind my business is a pleasure to me. I attribute this happy state of affairs to Paine's Celery Compound."

As in the case of Fire Chief Runge, the beginning of poor health is very apt to rob one of the will power to start immediately about getting out of danger. It is this inertia of poor health that makes an ordinary "run-down" bodily condition so dangerous, and so likely to go on to something worse. Every day it is clearly shown that it won't do to live tired-out, and on the verge of breaking down. The languor and the lack of strength are sure to increase.

Now is the time to throw off disease. As the new year begins there are few hindrances to getting back strength and sturdy health. The bracing weather arouses a longing for health. Paine's Celery Compound, taken now, does its best service toward driving out disease and establishing firm health.

CARSON GETS A BAD BLACK EYE FROM BUCKEYE

The Purchase of the Buckeye Placer Gold Mines Repudiated and Bond Surrendered.

[Correspondence of the JOURNAL.]

CARSON CITY, January 16, 1896.

The sensation of the day is the repudiation of the purchase of the Buckeye placer gold mines officially concluded at a meeting of the interested parties held last evening.

The sale was made in October last to the rich Lane-Hayward-Hobart combination of California capitalists for $250,000, the purchasers giving a bond for the payment of that amount in and after June next and paying $19,000 cash down.

They also purchased from outside parties a water right or reservoir site on the headwaters of Carson river with a view to bringing water through fifty miles of canal, ditch and flume to work the mines. This water right they retained.

They started a survey of the ditch, located a large amount of ground adjoining the 1,700 acres they purchased and put forty or fifty men at work prospecting and developing their purchase, costing considerable in the way of wages, supplies, transportation, etc.

The principal work had been done on the Black Horse claim or location in Buckeye canyon, where an open outcrop developed a bed of fine looking gravel twelve or fifteen feet deep, rich in coarse placer gold which sold at the Carson Mint for over $19 per ounce.

But what was called the bedrock was not generally considered to be so, and among the very first of the new proprietary operations was to go to the expense of sinking a shaft down into this bedrock. It was sunk to the depth of 133 feet through a variegated wash deposit and no true bedrock.

Some pretty fair gold prospects were found all the way down, but nothing like that at the surface. Near the bottom of the shaft some most beautiful pieces of silicified or agatized wood were found, being sections of the trunk and branches of a pretty good sized tree, which, judging from the formation and grain, must have been cottonwood.

Pieces weighing thirty or forty pounds were sent to San Francisco. No finer or more beautiful wood petrification was ever found on the Pacific Coast.

Its greatest significance, however, is a demonstration of the geological character of the earth at that particular point. Sinking deeper was discontinued by reason of too much water, and the necessity of the erection of costly machinery for pumping and hoisting.

Various reasons are assigned for the abandonment of the purchase; that the property does not turn out as valuable or prospectively productive as was anticipated; too much trouble and cost in procuring and introducing the necessary water; big commissions claimed for parties securing the purchase and title; alleged trespasses by locators, etc.

Anyhow the whole negotiation is declared off, and the property reverts to its original locators and owners, the extensive Raycraft family and relative connections, and quite a number of outsiders, all residents of Ormsby and Douglas counties.

Some public opinion also is expressed that perhaps this purchase has been repudiated with the purpose of throwing the property into disrepute, discouraging or freezing out the numerous small holders, and securing it at a much less price later on. Buckeye is nearly thirty-five miles southeast from Carson, and the mines are a discovery of the last three or four years. The famous Zim mine (quartz) is in the direction, at Pienoot, ten miles nearer. It is also bonded for $70,000, which is expected to be paid in a few days.

This Buckeye disruption is a great disappointment detrimental to the interests of this section, the more especially as the purchasers started in so promisingly, spending plenty of money, with unlimited means at their command.

Power Consumption in Piano Playing.

The amount of power expended in playing on a piano has recently been figured out in a way which, if not altogether accurate, is at least interesting. Commenting on the statement made that "it requires more force to sound a note gently on this instrument than it does to lift the lid of a kettle," the American Art Journal says that this is "easy to verify if one takes a small handful of coins and piles them on a key of the piano. When a sufficient quantity is piled on to make a note sound, they may be weighed and the figures will be found to be true. If the pianist is playing fortissimo, a much greater force is needed. At times a force of six pounds is thrown upon a single key to produce a solitary effect. With chords the force is generally spread over the various notes sounded simultaneously, though a greater output of force is undoubtedly expended. This is what gives pianists the wonderful strength in their fingers that is often commented on.

A story used to be told of Paderewski that he could crack a pane of French plate glass half an inch thick merely by placing one hand upon it as if upon a keyboard and striking it sharply with his middle finger. Chopin's last study in C minor has a passage which takes two minutes and five seconds to play. The total pressure brought to bear on this, it is estimated, is equal to three full tons. The average 'tonnage' of an hour's piano playing of Chopin's music varies from 12 to 24 tons.

The Storm.

The much needed rain commenced falling shortly after 7 o'clock last night and by midnight it was pouring down and everything was afloat. It was a good old-fashioned rain storm and the indications were favorable for an extended storm. At 1 o'clock it was growing colder, but not cold enough for snow. At 3 o'clock when the Journal went to press it was still raining, but a heavy snow was reported falling on the mountains. While the storm is a serious injury to the ice carnival at Truckee as well as the ice men up the river, they will no doubt be magnanimous enough to take it as it comes, knowing that it is of great benefit to the farmer, stock man and miner. What perhaps is a damage to one locality is a help to another so that in the general round-up Nature divides her gifts quite equally.

A Live Man.

Mr. Wm. Thompson has, in addition to the sale of the Riverside Hotel property, about consummated the sale of the "Thompson Block" on Virginia street, the consideration being $25,000. He has two other deals on hand and expects the parties to arrive from the East by the first of next week, when full arrangements will be concluded.

Mr. Thompson thinks that the outlook for the summer is good and he expects and has good reasons to believe that certain investments will be made and some lively moves early in the spring that will greatly benefit Reno. He is a hustler and whatever he does to advance his large interests here will help the whole community.

IN OLDEN TIMES

People overlooked the importance of permanently beneficial effects and were satisfied with transient action, but now that it is generally known that Syrup of Figs will permanently cure habitual constipation, well-informed people will not buy other laxatives, which act for a time, but finally injure the system.

Eczema on Face, Neck and Hands

Hood's Sarsaparilla Cured All Impurity.

Mr. Augustus O. Graham, Tallahassee, Ind. Ter.

"Our son Augustus was very severely troubled with eczema. Sores broke out on his face, neck and hands, and the slightest scratch on his hands would break out in bad sores. We persuaded him to take Hood's Sarsaparilla and it has been two or three months since he has been troubled. His hands are quite smooth. Our nephew, Edgar E. Shaw, who lives with us, was afflicted similarly only his case was more severe, accompanied by scrofulous humors on his neck. He has taken four bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla and is now well. His skin is as smooth as any one could wish, and the rashes on his neck have disappeared." Mrs. M. J. GRAHAM, Box 173, Tallahassee, Ind. Ter.
